

Join the California Advocacy Network for Children with Special Health Care Needs

Families, professionals, advocates, and others interested in improving the state's system of care are invited to join the California Advocacy Network for Children with Special Health Care Needs, a program of the Lucile Packard Foundation for Children's Health.

What Is the Purpose of the Network?

The Network brings together a wide range of stakeholders to advocate jointly for improvements in shared issues related to children with special health care needs. Current priorities include:

- Improving care coordination
- Identifying effective health care financing strategies
- Ensuring access to pediatric specialty care
- Supporting families to advocate for a better system of care
- Enhancing transition to adult care

Who Should Join?

Anyone interested in improving the system of care for children with special health care needs should join the Network. Members include families, young adults, caregivers, service providers, insurers, disease-specific advocacy organizations, educators, researchers, and public and private agencies.

How Do I Participate?
